ZILVER PUBLIC

Zilver develops specific solutions that significantly limit the risk of bacterial development. Zilver mixers and taps with low volume of standing water, mixers and taps with smooth interiors, electronic controls with hygienic spout outlet, are a few examples.

Advantages of sensor taps compared to traditional hand-operated taps

Zilver offers a range of different kinds of sensor taps so there's something that is suitable for every kind of washroom environment.

■ Sensor taps offer water savings

Traditional taps can use up to 10-15 litres of water per minute. In comparison, sensor taps offer flow rates of as little as 2 litres per minute, up to 70% less than traditional taps and Zilver sensor taps use around 60% less water than traditional taps.

■ Sensor taps are cleaner and more efficient

The flow rate of sensor taps is predetermined whereas for traditional taps the user has to select their preferred flow rate every time. Pre-setting the flow rate also prevents user from selecting a flow rate that's too powerful, which helps to reduce splashing and means that the bathroom stays cleaner.

■ Sensor taps are much more hygienic

Hygiene is one of the key benefits of sensor taps. The user is not required to actually touch the tap with their hands at any point during the hand-washing operation.

Facts and Charts on Sensor Taps & Manual Taps

■ Customers increasingly expect to see sensor taps in public washrooms

As hands-free taps are installed in an ever-wider range of locations, customers increasingly expect them to be provided as part of a high quality washroom environment. Sensor taps are very intuitive to use and completely remove user-error problems like people leaving the taps running.
